Vanco International, LLC REMAINS COMMITTED TO ADVANCING CONNECTIVITY

Batavia, IL, October 4, 2006 - Vanco International, LLC is an innovative supplier to the home theater, low voltage, and electronic distributor markets with more than 50 years of experience in the electronic accessories industry. Vanco began as a provider of high quality audio, video, mobile, and CB accessories. Products were delivered by the company "Van" directly to the distributor and dealer locations throughout the Midwestern United States; thus the name Vanco. Although Vanco no longer uses the regional distribution "Van" concept, they remain passionate about the customer, demanding high quality and innovative products and delivering impeccable customer service. Vanco's distributor and retailer base has grown to encompass the United States and Canada with service to nine different channels of distribution.

As both CEDIA and CEA members, Vanco draws upon their years of electronic experience to develop unique, electronic accessory products that address emerging new markets.

Most recent introductions include Home Theater and Whole House Audio Wall Plates, the Patent Pending QuickTye-Standoff™ and other Cable Management Products, HDMI™ and DVI Cables, Home Theater Cables, Surge Protection and Power Management Products, Home Theater Wall Plates and Jacks, Patented Color Mate™ Telephone Wall Plates and Jacks, and Datacom Products. Vanco is committed to providing leading edge electronic accessories that advance connectivity and embrace the digital information evolution. In 2006 alone, Vanco added over 350 new products with some of the most exciting being Flat Panel Bulk Cable Wall Plates, HDMI and DVI Wall Plates, VGA cables in various lengths and configurations, and Digital Audio/Video Selector Switches.

Vanco International, LLC plans to add an additional 200 to 300 new products in 2007 to continue standing by their commitment of advancing connectivity.
